Town Council Deals With Routine Business

The members of Council present at this meeting were Mayor Robinson and Councillors Coleman, Tory, Buckle, Stafford and Armstrong.

The recorded proceedings of Council at their regular meeting held on July 6th, were read, and in motion of Councillor Stafford were confirmed as written.

On motion of Councillor Armstrong, that in view of the dates mentioned in letter from Secretary of Wainwright Municipal Hospital District, relative to the opening of the New Hospital, being on days following the usual half holiday closing, and that to close on the following afternoon would cause much inconvenience at this time being so close to harvesting season, that the Hospital Board be advised to arrange for the opening of the New Hospital on Wednesday the 20th day of August or on the following Wednesday of September 1st.

On motion of Councillor Stafford, that the Report received from the Alberta Assessment Commission bearing dates of June 21st and July 7th, 1948, relative to Appeals made to that Commission on the 17th day of June, 1948, be received and filed for future reference.

On motion of Councillor Tory, that the Secretary be granted permission to take his annual holidays as from August 7th until the 21st, as requested in letter dated August 3rd.

At this period Dr. John B. Bradley, Medical Health Officer, addressed the Council in connection with matters dealt with by the Board of Health up until this date of the current year, stressing the further improvement that he considered would be necessary for the general health conditions of the Town yet to be undertaken—His interesting address was apparently much appreciated and His Worship the Mayor thanked him on behalf of the Council for being in attendance.

On motion of Councillor Coleman, that the Report of the Finance Committee be accepted and that the continued on page 8

Nomination Day Shows Three Candidates In Election Competition

Nomination day closed at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 7th, according to the Provincial Election Act, and returning Officer, Frank Dixon, reports that three candidates are entered in the political race for the Wainwright Constituency, they are: John Kelly, Wainwright district farmer, who is representing the Liberal party in this election, Mr. Kelly is a returned veteran and an active service on the continent overseas. His official agent is Mr. W. O'Connor, Wainwright.

Mr. William Masson real estate and insurance agent, Irma, who has represented the Wainwright constituency for the past 18 years as Social Credit member. Official agent for Mr. Masson is Mr. E. Gorton, Edgerton.

Mr. Stewart Wright representing the C.C.F. is a Highenden district farmer and has been active in C.C.F. circles for a number of years. Mr. Wright has acting as his agent, Mr. W. Sanders, Irma.

The Club members, through voluntary labor, and with the loan of some equipment from Wainwright Construction Co., have completed the construction of a 10,000 pound, steel and concrete roller. It is hoped that the roller will flatten the course, to where the winter rule may be done away with.

At present the fairways are in good shape, and the greens in excellent shape, and any golfer who has the urge, may satisfy it, without the use of stronger language than "shucks" while missing a three foot putt.

The Club would like all members to turn in score cards to Mr. Jack Morgan. This is for handicap purposes, as the Club Handicap Championship is scheduled for the week commencing August 16th. Any member not turning in cards, will be given a handicap by the executive—and the executive are a bunch of tough eggs, for sure—so get your cards in before Saturday, August 14th.

Membership cards, for those who are not members, may be obtained from Mr. Jack Morgan, Mrs. McChesney or Mr. J. Humphries. The fee are very low.

The executive intend to have more work done on the course between now and the commencement date of the tournament, August 16th. They are hopeful of putting the course in tip top shape by tournament time.

Edgerton Oil Well Sets Casing

News from the "Edgerton Oil" well this week brings to light the fact that the casing was run and has been cemented. Drilling was continued all week and the limestone formation was encountered at 2400 feet. It has been the plan of the drillers to run the casing to the top of the limestone, and when done to continue drilling from there on. Drilling will get underway again on Wednesday, and further important results are expected next week.

Mr. Rutherford of the University of Alberta is consulting geologist and has been in attendance during the latter stages of drilling. Core samples taken indicate good likelihood of oil being found in commercial quantities.

It is planned to drill into the lime for an undetermined distance and high hopes are held that this will prove to be oil bearing strata. As stated above, if all goes well something definite should be known by this time next week.

Survey Crew Working on Highway 14

Road survey crews are busy this week surveying the future right of the Highway 14 extension. For some years Provincial Highway 14 ended at a point 7 miles north of Chauvin with a gravelled municipal road entering from the highway into that town.

There has been agitation for many years to have the Highway completed and linked up with Saskatchewan roads. The distance to do this is not large being only 7 miles. It is not economical to build straight east from the present highway due to heavy fills that would be necessary.

At present the survey crew are surveying from the Chauvin corner north for two miles and then east for seven miles. This will put the highway direct to the Saskatchewan border and will enable a direct link with Saskatchewan Highway No. 41 which leads to Marston and North Battleford.

Some hope is held that the work will be done by freeze up, but at present there is no machinery available. It is thought that if equipment were

Eileen Forster Reports From England

EDITOR'S NOTE—Miss Forster is a former Wainwright girl who at present is working in England. Eileen left Canada to seek employment in dental work in the old country, and since then the Star has already published one of her letters written to her family in Canada. Mrs. H. Bruner gave us this letter and we hope our readers will be interested in the description that Eileen has given of her holiday trip to the Isle of Wight.

Bath, Somerset, England
July 12th, 1948

Dear Doris and all:

This letter will be about my first holiday in England, or my first trip to the Isle of Wight—better known as "England's Eden". To travel anywhere today, by car, in post war England is truly a luxury, and much more our good luck, than Mr. Hewitt, a Naval Officer—friend of Mr. and Mrs. Cleverly, whom I went on holidays with, very kindly drove us from Bath to Portsmouth and also drove us back at the end of our holiday.

On our way we stopped at Stonehenge, which is the most famous monument of antiquity in the British Isles. The huge stones forming the circle were brought from a distance of 120 miles and the amazing thing about it is that the stones were placed there hundreds and hundreds of years ago, some of the stones weighing several tons, yet most of the stones are lying vertically across the ground as if they were moving and being downed years before such things as electricity, cranes, etc. Stories today, concerning Stonehenge and its connections with Druids and human sacrifice, have no support from historical evidence. At certain times yet, services are held, when followers of the Druids go out to Stonehenge to worship and spend the night out there, and when the sun rises, the stones are supposed to turn bright red. It was a sight well worth seeing.

Our next stop was at a farmhouse where we bought strawberries at 5 shillings a basket, which we ate later when we were in the garden. As part of the New Forest. Travelling along, we passed many old Inns and Pubs—"The Hatched Inn", "The Magpie", "Horse and Jockey", "Tudor Rose", "Fleming Arms", "The Shepherd", "White Swan", "Queen's Head" and many, many others.

The English countryside is truly beautiful, and I don't believe one could ever tire of the quiet beauty of the village and hills—the neat green farms looking especially good at this time, with their waving fields of corn, wheat and oats, etc. and the trees heavy with fruit. At Leam-on-Solent, we managed to get a couple of films for the camera, so I shall always have a soft spot in my heart for this place. The traces of war are to be seen in many of these seaside towns as well as inland towns, but the spirit amongst the English people is so wonderful, that life and fun continues at the beaches and elsewhere, despite the bombed ruins, fallen buildings, etc.

At Gosport a suburb of Portsmouth, we caught a Ferry to Portsmouth, and from there, Mr. and Mrs. Cleverly and myself, caught the boat to Ryde.

Incidentally, just as we were about

Polling Place Changed In Wainwright

ADVANCE POLL DATES ANNOUNCED

According to Returning Officer, Frank Dixon, the polling booth in Wainwright has been changed and now will be held in both the Masonic and L.O.O.F. Halls. The information given on the Proclamations is incorrect.

This last minute change has been made for the convenience of elderly people who find it difficult to climb the stairs to the upper Hall. Some criticism has been heard of past elections where people found it difficult to vote because of the polling booth located on the second floor of the Civic Hall.

All voters are requested to familiarize themselves with where they are to vote. Residents of Wainwright with surnames beginning with letters from "A" to "L" will vote in the L.O.O.F. Hall and persons with names beginning with letters from "M" to "Z" will vote in the Masonic Hall.

Advance Poll To Be Held

As is usual in elections of this nature an advance poll will be held for all voters who will be absent from the house on election day, or for invalids who wish to cast their ballot early. The poll will be open from 2 o'clock till 6 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 o'clock till 10 o'clock in the evening of the last three days of the week, August 23, 24 and 25. The poll will be located in the offices of D. J. Gibson, Main Street, Wainwright. All persons who are requested to use this method of electing their representative to the legislature. It must be pointed out that a person may only vote the once.

August 18 is Field & Farm Tour Day

The Agricultural Service Board of the M.D. of Wainwright No. 61 will conduct a series of Agricultural Field Days in connection with the Judging of its "Save the Soil" Campaign.

There are 24 farms entered in the Competition this year, and they will be judged by Mr. G. R. Sterling, Supervisor of Soil Conservation and Weed Control for the Province of Alberta.

Other Field Days to be held are: Irma District, Thursday August 19 at 1:30 p.m. at the R. Dempsey Demonstration Plot on Highway 14; and Rosemary District, Saturday August 21st at 1:30 p.m. at the Leonard Burton Demonstration Plot.

For further information, contact F. W. Madrox, Field Supervisor, M.D. Office, Wainwright, Alberta.

P.O. DEPT., OTTAWA

WAINWRIGHT, WEDNESDAY AUGUST 11th, 1948

NOTICE TO READERS

It is self explanatory, but in case you didn't know we suggest you count the pages in this week's Star. There are ten of them (we hope so anyway at the time of writing).

This has been brought about due to the heavy advertising volume of election week. This week is the first time for a good many years that the Star has carried three half page advertisements in the same issue. To produce a paper of this size is no mean task. It means much extra work and burning the midnight oil, especially with one member of the staff away on holidays.

At this time of sitting to the typewriter it is impossible to say whether the paper will be late, but if it is we hope our readers will understand. Also we wish at this time to inform our readers that next week's paper will not be printed until late next Tuesday night as it is our intention to carry the results of the election to be held on that day. In this way the Star will provide a service to its readers by giving them last minute news as soon as it is available.

RURAL POWER DEVELOPMENT FOR WAINWRIGHT

Notwithstanding the fact that by this time next week the Government may or may not be in the electrical business, much credit is due the officers and members of the North Wainwright Rural Electrification Association for their efforts thus far.

There has been an urgent need for rural electrification in the Wainwright district for many years. It has been through the co-operative activities of the residents of the area north of Wainwright who have taken the initiative to bring the proposed scheme thus far. At the present time, installation as we understand it, is scheduled to take place some time in 1949. During the last meeting called to discuss the possibilities of rural electrification, one or two new areas were discussed and from reports heard since the meeting, it is possible that these areas will become operative under the plan maybe the same time the North area is electrified.

There are many advantages of rural electrification which should give determination to all farmers living adjacent to the power lines that they will automatically become a power user. Nothing increases the value of the farm as much as being served by electricity. Farm values in the district are bound to increase if and when this new project comes into effect.

Some concern has been felt recently for the number of farm youth who are leaving the land in search of easier occupations. It is possible that rural electrification will supply the answer to this. With electricity on tap much of the chore of everyday farming is reduced and in some instances completely abolished. Here are some of the benefits which become possible when farms are served by electrical energy, water pressure systems, cooking with electric stoves, electric milkers, refrigeration, electric lights and many others.

From what we have learned the rates proposed in the Wainwright district compare very favorably with the rates charged in town. This is something which we are delighted to see. Rural electricity is a needed servant, but it is needed at a price that all can afford to pay.

So we take off our hats to the farmers who are contemplating installing electricity when the power passes their door, and our admiration is keen for those people who have worked, and for that matter are still working, to bring rural electrification to the farmers of the district at the earliest date. May success be theirs.

GET OUT AND VOTE

Tuesday, August 17th, 1948, will be the day for every citizen in the Province of Alberta to march to the polls and cast their ballot for the candidate of their choice. This day when counting is complete will decide whether the Social Credit Government will be returned after its 13 years stay or whether it will be a change of government with the Liberal or C.C.F. regime in the public favor.

In all elections during the past there has been a tendency to "Let George Do It." Heavens knows who George is. We have never seen any George who likes to assume any more responsibility than his own. In view of this it is only reasonable to presume that to make the most effective election day everyone will therefore have to mark their ballots for themselves if they expect to have one marked.

We can not recall the dates, time or places, but we do remember reading of a story about voting which took place back in the days of upper Canada. There apparently were six men who had to walk a rather long distance to the polling booth, and each knew that his ballot would be cancelled out by the decision of the other. There were three candidates in the field, and each candidate was assured two votes from this particular group of men. It mattered not to the six men, they trudged on to cast their ballot knowing full well that it would be cancelled out. Think what would have happened if one of these men had not gone to the polls in face of knowing that their vote would not count. If one had not continued in the party one of the other voters would certainly have

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

By the Canadian Press

By Harold Morrison

Canadian farmers, like efficient workers in any industry, were given both praise and a boost in salary in two government moves last week.

One was the announcement that through the efforts of Canadian wheat growers, the Dominion was able to complete her obligations to deliver 150,000,000 bushels of wheat and wheat flour to the United Kingdom during the year.

The other was the 40-cent-a-bushel jack-up in the price of wheat to a new post-war high of $2 a bushel for No. 1 Northern, effective August 1. Both announcements came as government officials prepared to grapple with applications for freight rate increases which would—if granted—give the Canadian railroads a total unprecedented freight rate boost of $1 per cent in one year.

The completion of wheat deliveries to Canada's greatest customer—the United Kingdom—was announced by Trade Minister Howe. But from now on, the trade minister said, deliveries to the U.K. will drop 30,000,000 bushels a year to 140,000,000 bushels in 1948-49 and by a similar amount the following year.

For the current term, the price of wheat rises from $1.55 to $2 a bushel. Next year's price has yet to be negotiated. In any case it will not be allowed to drop below $1 a bushel under arrangements between the two countries.

Blow to Millers
The big increase in price, which may help the wheat farmer fight the rising cost of living, means a hard blow to the Canadian miller and finally to the housewife who buys her bread at the corner store.

Because the Canadian miller must pay the $2 a bushel price, too, it appeared there would be a sudden rise in the price of bread. It was indicated, however, that the government plans to implement its current drive against prices with a flour subsidy which will allow the miller to buy his flour requirements at the usual price.

And although the Canadian farmer will get more money for his product, it was announced by the Dominion bureau of statistics last week that Canada's wheat crop this year will not be as large as in the previous year. With a lighter crop his income will not be as great as at first expected.

Ironically, too, the bureau reported that wheat still was urgently needed in the world, especially in Europe which will make substantial imports of wheat this year. To get these imports they may have to turn to Argentina and the United States where the farmers were harvesting a near-record crop with substantial quantities available for export at unfixed market prices.

Canadian farmers, too, like other Canadian producers, were bound to be affected by the second request since last March for freight rate increases by the Canadian railroads.

Seek Interim Increase
Applications were made in Ottawa last week for an interim 15-per-cent increase and a permanent 20-per-cent increase in haulage rates on top of a 21-per-cent increase already granted.

Main reason given for the new application was the railway's grant of 17 cents an hour wage increases to its 170,000 employees at an estimated cost of about $76,500,000 a year.

The railways told the Board of Transport Commissioners the interim 15-per-cent increase will be just enough to cover the wage boost. The permanent 20 per cent is sought because of the wages and "other sharply increased costs."

They appealed for quick action and said that, on the basis of cost of operations, revenue will be more than $42,000,000 below the amount required this year.

Farmers, lumbermen, miners and tradespeople all became partners to reports of a new, expanded Canada to shortly become a reality. It was announced in Ottawa last week that—within a matter of months—Canada will cement union with Newfoundland, the 450-year-old fishing colony cut from Canada's mainland by the Atlantic Ocean.

10th Province
Prime Minister Mackenzie King, perhaps as his most outstanding final act before drawing the curtain on scored a victory, as his ballot would not have been cancelled.

Think of this on Election Day. If you don't attend the polls you should have no further criticism of the government's actions for the next four or five years. You didn't help or defeat that government from gaining power in the election, therefore, you should have no say in their actions.

Vote as you please, but please vote for the man of your choice. There are three candidates in the field in this constituency. Mr. Kelly, Mr. Masson and Mr. Wright. One of these gentlemen will represent our constituency in the Legislative Assembly in Edmonton for the next five years. Your ballot will make that decision.

IN OUR TIME

"You WOULD have to have one of those new OIL BURNERS!"

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

FREE ENTERPRISE IS YOU AND ME

The word capitalism and its softer alternative, free enterprise, have been battered around for so long by agitators and well-meaning folk that we have mental pictures of the terms—pictures of soulless individuals or of great de-humanized corporations that have no thought for you or me. The fact is that the large part of all enterprise is you and me and is no better and no worse than ourselves.

The eager and ambitious men and women who yearn for individual freedom in their work, and find it in small undertakings of their own, are the very heart of free enterprise. The great industrial empire stem back to some individual who had a vision of his own, and wanted to try it out and win or lose on his own. But we have gone on from there. In growing larger we have assumed that the once fine little business has lost all its fitness and become careless and greedy. We will control it. But, can we do it and still leave other men and women to dream and to implement their dreams free from interference? It is the little business that is of so great importance.

Consider manufacturing industry as an instance. It is, supposedly, the hub of free enterprise. Over 70 per cent of all such industries in Canada are little undertakings, born of the dreams of individuals like ourselves and so small that, on the average, they employ fewer than 5 workers. There are fewer than 2,000 manufacturing industries in all Canada that employ as many as 100 men. Or take the retail business in all its various branches, and again it is the individual, independent merchant who controls 85 per cent of the total and does 81 per cent of the total retail business. But, of course, the most individualistic of all free enterprises is the farmer of the 734,832 farms of Canada. Only a little more than one third of the farms employ any help and less than four per cent employ year round help.

So the point that we would make is that free enterprise does not represent distant and sinister persons and powers, but, in the main, just you and me. Yet we talk of controls or appropriation, as if you could control the few large operations without controlling the multitude of the small. And when you control the small it means that freedom—your freedom and mine—to step into some undertaking to work for it and to make it grow and prosper is something that may be closed to us forever.

SPORTS CAMERA

Hockey is easily Canada's most popular sport. So much so that it appears the Dominion is to have two hockey "Halls of Fame."

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the National Hockey League, in a joint meeting representing the governing bodies of professional and amateur hockey in Canada and the United States, plan the official Hall in Kingston, Ont., with the idea of "perpetuating the memory of the men who have done so much to develop nationally and internationally Canada's great winter sport, hockey." Anyway, that's how it is explained in a book entitled, "International Hockey Hall of Fame."

Halifax, however, doesn't like the idea of being slighted. Mayor Gee Ahen, a former stick-handler and sports editor, insists that hockey was played in Halifax as far back as 1779, while Kingston can only claim to have played it since 1886. Halifax, therefore, is studying two possible locations for a Hall of Fame to rival the recognized Hall at Kingston. Mr. Ahen says the port city's Hall will open in 1949.

James Sutherland, one of the pillars on which hockey was built, says, on behalf of the Kingston Hall, that no feud exists between the two cities. Mr. Sutherland adds that some 30 years ago he coupled Halifax and Kingston as the only centres where hockey was first played.

What The Books Say
We thought the argument could easily be rectified with some research. Pulling two huge encyclopedias from the wall, we found that ice hockey, in these massive volumes at least, is just an offsprung of field hockey, which is played with a curved stick and a ball. We also learned that this was one of the games banned in England in the 14th century as being detrimental to English archery. One knowledge-filled book condemned to say that ice hockey, as played on ice with an oval piece of rubber called a "puck," was rapidly gaining popularity. We were most gratified to read that.

As we read on it became increasingly clear that if the Hall of Fame controversy lasts long enough, eventually some backwoods hamlet in England is going to put in a bid for a Hall of Fame. We abandoned the "big books" forthwith.

In further research, we came across a card from a box of popcorn with the title, "Hockey-Yesterday." But this prominently displayed a large mass of men in army uniforms playing the game. We decided to make no use of this information in case a certain country should ban hockey as being originated by military factions and therefore not conducive to world peace.

We finally came to the conclusion that we'd better stay out of the Hall of Fame controversy before we did it more harm than good. After all, there are literally thousands of the most important Halls of Fame—the hearts and minds of juvenile pocketers who worship the ice the stars skate on.

OFFICIAL CALLS FOR SCIENTIFIC FARMING

Galt, Ont.—Stronger conservation methods are needed to enable Ontario farmers to compete favorably on the world market when Europe again becomes an exporter, according to C. D. Graham, Ontario deputy minister of agriculture.

Speaking recently at the field day of the Waterloo County Federation of Agriculture at nearby Baden, Mr. Graham told more than 3,000 persons that if Ontario farmers are to maintain the quality and increase the output of their products they must give scientific agriculture its proper place.

A scientific conservation program in Ontario rests on proper placing of grasses in rotation with other crops, to bring soil fertility to the proper level, he said. He praised farmers who for a number of years, have been following a good crop rotation program.

Mr. Graham said he believed Ontario farmers could take a few leaves from the books of European and United States agriculturists and conservationists.

Experts predict that Europe will not reach pre-war production levels until 1952, he said, but some day Canadians again will be competing with them for markets. Then the quality of the product and the price of production will be the deciding factor to buyers.

English Journey

ARTICLE No. 6

Within a short bus ride journey from Amerham are two places that should be on the "must see" list of every visitor to England. Windsor Castle and Hampton Court Palace.

One whole day at least should be spent at Windsor for there is so much to see. The town itself is an interesting old place but the Castle is worth the whole journey to England. The usual pictures of Windsor Castle give little indication of the real size and grandeur of the many buildings.

It is known that there was a castle here in the days of William I (1067 to 1100) but the present castle was started by Edward III (1327-1377) and succeeding kings made various additions until about 1820 since which time there have been no changes.

As everyone knows, the Royal family spend much of their time at Windsor Castle but when they are absent, visitors are shown through the state apartments by expert guides who lecture in each room. These are not the private apartments of the Royal family, which are in another part of the Castle.

It is impossible in the space available to adequately describe these state apartments but the following is a brief summary in the order visited.

The China Museum contains a valuable collection of services of Worcester, Wedgwood, Minton, Copeland etc. made for various Kings.

The Grand staircase has a suit of armour made for Henry VIII, colors of many regiments, arms and armour. King Charles II Dining Room has a ceiling painting by Verrio of a Banquet of the Gods; Grindley Gibbons carvings, and private pictures, furniture and tapestries.

The Rubens Room is so called because of the number of paintings by that artist on the walls. It's used as the principal apartment during State visits. This room also has valuable furniture and porcelain.

The State Bedroom has a State Bedstead made 1774-1793 and the walls are covered with green silk damask. Here also are priceless paintings and furniture.

The King's Closet and the Queen's Closet are two more large rooms with period furniture and magnificent paintings.

The Picture Gallery, used as a Writing Room during state visits is known as the Picture Gallery on account of the number of masterpieces of great value. There are "over" 60 paintings by such artists as Holbein, Rubens, Rembrandt, etc.

The Van Dyck Room is so called because most of the paintings are by that artist and there are many fine pieces of furniture.

The Queen's Audience Chamber has another fine ceiling painting by Verrio and three magnificent panel tapestries of Gobelin.

The Queen's Presence Chamber also has a ceiling painting by Verrio and wonderful furniture and pictures.

The Guard Chamber has an armour clad equestrian figure, a fine collection of historical swords and batons, as well as busts, tapestries, pictures and furniture.

St. George's Hall, built by Edward III to hold the banners of the Knights of the Garter, is 185 feet long and 30 feet wide. The decorations include the shields of Arms of all knights of the Garter from the foundation of the Order in 1344 to the present day, and busts of about 24 kings and members of the Royal Family.

The Grand Reception Room has six huge Gobelin tapestries.

The Throne Room is where many Royal Investitures of the Order of the Garter has taken place. The pictures are of Sovereigns in their Garter Robes.

The Ante Throne Room has five paintings by Zuccarelli, busts and Louis XV tables.

The Waterloo Chamber has a mahogany table capable of seating 100 persons. The walls are covered with Heraldic Badges and over forty paintings of celebrities.

The last room is the Grand Vestibule, filled with cases of souvenirs of historical events, and other objects, forming a museum of great interest.

It would take days to really study the apartments but the visitor must keep up with the guide and party. It was noticeable that the guide never used superlatives such as "the finest in the world" although there is no doubt that many items could be so classed. There were over 5000 visitors to the apartments on the day we were there.

The Queen's Doll's House is another section open to the public but we did not have time enough to visit it.

Equally interesting is the St. George's Chapel which is one of the most beautiful and interesting buildings in England.

Here again an expert guide conducts parties of visitors and points out each item of interest and here again, hours could be spent studying the details.

St. George's Chapel is where many kings and queens are buried including Henry VIII and his Queen, Jane Seymour; Edward VII; Queen Alexandra; George III, George IV, Henry VI and many others.

Our guide showed his sense of dramatics as he told of the body of Charles the First being smuggled past sentries into the chapel for burial at the dead of night. For a long time it was doubted if it really was the body of the king and if he really was beheaded. Years later the body was exhumed and found to be really the body of Charles the First and the head was separate from the body.

We were fortunate in seeing the extensive and massive old altar vessels which are not usually on view, but had not been removed after a special service that morning.

Lovers of fine architecture are richly rewarded for a visit to St. George's Chapel for although it is not as old as many other Church buildings it is far richer and the stone vaulting is glorious. It is hard to tear oneself away from this gem of England.

Going out on the north terrace of the Castle a glorious view is obtainable over the countryside and in the foreground are the buildings of Eton, one of England's most famous boys schools. In the town of Windsor at almost any time can be seen boys with the caps, uniforms, and topers worn by various groups of students.

The following interesting item about Eton was clipped from a recent daily paper.

"A woman I know put her son down for Eton soon after he was born, 12 years ago.

"His name went on the general waiting list. This was a mistake. His mother should have made sure it was on a housemaster's list.

"So unless there is a failure among the examiners in September, he stands no chance of going to Eton in the autumn. Hundreds more boys are waiting for such chance vacancies.

"Fees at Eton are now £278 a year."

year. Nevertheless, lists are full until 1960.

Only a half hour's bus ride from Windsor in Hampton Court Palace which I visited on another day, it was built by Cardinal Woolsey when he was the richest and most powerful man in England. His household numbered 500 and 260 guest rooms were always ready for guests.

Woolsey presented it to King Henry VIII who made it one of the most luxurious palaces in the kingdom.

It is now preserved by the Ministry of Works as an ancient monument and historic building. Visitors may go through the various apartments which are full of period furniture, priceless paintings, tapestries, etc.

The gardens at Hampton Court Palace are extensive and very beautiful, and the most widely known feature there, is the famous Maze probably planted in the reign of William III. The hedges which line the paths of the Maze are 6 feet high and two feet thick, but looked to me as if they were dying. Perhaps they will be better later in the summer.

Another feature is the Tilted garden where tournaments were held in the days of Henry VIII. It is 7 acres in area, enclosed by high brick walls and five towers provided accommodation for the spectators.

Hampton Court Palace and grounds are on the banks of the Thames and river steamers make frequent trips up and down the Thames carrying passengers to such places as Richmond, Kingston, London etc., at a small charge.

I went on one of these steamers to Kingston which is a busy centre with many interesting old buildings among fine modern ones. It was market day and I had a chance to see another of these outdoor markets which are a feature of many towns.

Researchers Study Herd of Dairy Cows

Hamilton, N.Z.—The highly scientific basis on which New Zealand's dairying industry is conducted is reflected in a lengthy investigation of the habits of cows conducted at Ruakura Animal Research Station. The research involved continuous 24-hour observation of a herd of dairy cows by a team of experts.

Information yielded by the investigation is that the average cow takes 17,000 bites of grass a day and walks an average of 3,000 yards, including its journey to the milking shed.

This might seem useless information, but the inquiry revealed that the average cow eats 60 per cent of its feed between the morning and night milking. This has shown the danger of confining herds in a field near the milking shed during the night as it is obvious that in a close-cropped field they are liable to suffer from "night starvation."

The inquiry has also shown that low-producing cows eat practically the same amount of grass as those with a high yield, so that cows with a small output are really parasites which should be culled from the herd.

Close observation of the eating habits of the cows has shown that those afflicted with an underbait jaw, an inherited trait, cannot graze as well as others and are unthrifty, low producers.

The inquiry showed the need for adequate shelter and shade for dairy stock. It was shown that cows were very susceptible to changes of weather and did better in fields where shelter belts prevented wind and rain from lashing the herd unduly.

Hope To Develop Fishing Grounds Near Greenland

Copenhagen—New fishing grounds may be opened to northern European countries if the results of two Danish expeditions to Greenland come up to expectations.

Part of a drive to step up Denmark's fish exports, the expeditions left last month to investigate a belief held by fishing authorities here that the waters off Greenland, Denmark's Arctic colony, are among the most prolific fishing grounds in the world.

No reports are yet available on the progress made by this expedition which is not expected to return to Denmark until later in the year. Although it will be some time before full reports can be prepared and studied, most authorities appear confident of success.

Even moderately successful results would, it is expected here, be followed by numbers of applications from overseas fishermen, as well as from Dunes, to fish in Greenland waters. Under present regulations, the sea beyond the three-mile limit is open to all countries. But the use, on Greenland itself, of salteries, freeing plants, oil extraction plants and other shore establishments essential to fishing so far from a home port would be subject to special permission from the Greenland administration.

Granted sparingly, such permission has previously been granted sparingly. However, this may be changed if results of this year's investigations come up to expectations.

Semi-official sources express belief the Danish government would grant concessions to foreign fishermen fairly freely, charging some duty for the privileges. Denmark receives only a precarious income from her sole colony and would, it is thought, be glad of an opportunity to increase it by selling fishing rights.

Another step taken by the Danish government in its drive to increase fishing exports and meet the fierce competition from the Netherlands and Norway is a decision to appoint fishing attaches to foreign countries. At the same time, the government decided to form a publicity association to promote the sale abroad of Danish fish by means of film, radio and press publicity.

Denmark sees in her fishing industry a means of increasing supplies of foreign currency. If her hopes of fishing grounds off Greenland materialize, fishing exports may well challenge agricultural exports as her No. 1 earner.

58 Year Old Woman Builds Own House

Haniet, N.C.—Mrs. J. R. Johnson is planning to move into a new home next September.

But Mrs. Johnson, 58 years old and a grandmother, is building the house herself.

She started about two years ago with nothing but a plan in her head and a willingness to work, she even bought a concrete-block machine to make her own building blocks. After manufacturing a supply of blocks, she went to work on the house. Now it is rapidly nearing completion.

Mrs. Johnson said her housing project got under way when she grew tired of paying rent. She suddenly realized she had been paying rent for 37 years, she said, and it was time to stop.

She did all the work herself except putting on the roof. The long rafters were too much for her to handle—she's only five feet, two inches tall. So she got a neighbor to help hold them while she drove the nails.

Not finished yet. There's still work to be done before the house is ready to live in: Finishing touches on the roof, windows to be installed and doors to be hung. Asked how she plans to finish the interior of her house, she said: "Well, I think I'll plaster it."

"By yourself?"

"Why not? I've gone this far with it."

Mrs. Johnson's new house measures 40 feet by 40 feet. It has four large rooms, a bathroom, three closets and a hall. There is an opening in the hall for a floor furnace. She already has built the chimney.

She estimates the house has cost her $750 and two years of hard work. "But it was worth it," she said, "because I really wanted a place to live."

The Old Apple Tree

It occurred to us the other day that when leisure slurs in the front door of our existence, simple relaxation all too often slips quietly out by the back porch.

For many people in this leisure-conscious age, relaxation seems to be a lost art. By relaxation we mean that delicious, drowsy sense of idleness best known to a small boy when he lies under an apple tree, staring at the shadowy leaves above and the bright sky beyond, half-minded to knock down plump Macintosh, but unable to decide whether or not it's worth the effort.

Now that we have attained the atomic era, many of us feel a compulsion to be up and about in our spare time, improving our understanding of industrial disputes, ballooning prices, Communist coups and cold wars. When we're not solving the problems of the world we "revel" in a theatre while rival gangsters shoot it out on the screen, or at the stadium while rival teams slug it out on the diamond, or behind the wheel of a car at 60 miles an hour.

We admit, of course, that reading up the laus of the day is a sign of healthy citizenship; and, long before the psychologists were converted to the belief, we were as ready as the next fellow to spout the hoary saying that a change is as good as a rest.

But wouldn't it be grand to get out under that old apple tree again, just for a while, and lie here, staring at the sky, too unconcerned, too lazy—too relaxed—to bother getting up for an apple?

Memo To All Voters On August 17

On August the 17th next the election of the Wainwright Constituency and Alberta will be called upon to elect a Provincial Government for another term of office. It is my hope that you will again give an overwhelming vote of confidence for the Manning Administration. Under the leadership of Mr. Manning this government has given to the people of Alberta sound administration and I believe the people will again show their trust by voting it into power.

We are indeed fortunate in having such a capable leader in this day and age when there is so much confusion of thought. When you vote for the Manning Administration you are voting for stable government for all the people.

I, William Masson your Social Credit candidate respectfully solicit your number "One" vote as a 100% supporter of the Manning Social Credit Administration. You have elected me three times before and your trust has not been misplaced. Vote the figure "1" after my name on August 17th and you will be voting for a continuation of this government. I believe in free enterprise properly regulated and full scope for individual initiative. I am much interested in the development of our Province and I believe there is a bright future for Wainwright's own resources. I have been in the forefront in advocating for improved Health, Education, Agriculture, Welfare and Social Services. I am convinced that "A pay as you go plan" is the best for Alberta at this time. I believe in the Social Credit principles, that if they are applied there would be a better condition in our country which would be freed from man made booms and depressions, but I believe also that they should be applied only when the people having confidence in them want to agree to vote men to Ottawa who will implement them. A policy of education to acquaint the people with our sound principles must persistently be pursued until by vote the people will have won the results they want. I have consistently denounced a policy of planned economy because I am convinced that it will inevitably lead to dictatorship. There could be a public planning only under a system of finance that succeeded in getting purchasing power into the hands of all the consumers and that ensured healthy competition. I cannot see that there is any virtue in being victimized by state officials rather than by privately owned interests. And yet the advocates of state Socialism tried to tell us that the regimented, planned and controlled state under the vested interest of a political party seeking power was democracy while a regimented and controlled economy under private monopoly was dictatorship. By removing every barrier to its production should be increased to the utmost in order that through competition to please consumers, the control of prices would be exercised by the people through the things they had to buy. Social Crediters are implicitly opposed to planned controls which enhance the power of the State at the expense of the liberties of the individual. Establishing a monetary authority charged by Parliament with the authority of maintaining a constant balance between effective purchasing power and the total of goods and services available together with a condition of healthy competition, was guarantee against deflation and the surest way to prevent the exploitation of the people by financial monopolies. A system of subsidies financed not out of taxation but by the creation of new money, debt free, to represent the goods and services that otherwise would be wasted, was the surest way to establish stability of wage scales and of commodity prices to primary producers.

If you will peruse the 10 point Platform of the Social Credit Party you will readily see that it is one intended to extend services already brought into being and to give new ones. We are on the verge of great industrial expansion. Confidence has been built up so that great industrial concerns are willing to come to us. The people of the Province are being protected so that from the great production of our natural resources they shall receive a just reward and at the same time giving a fair return to the industry producing the wealth. Our effort, if returned to power on August 17th, will be to see that drastic cuts downward will be made in property taxation, at the same time maintaining services.

I believe that many in the Wainwright Constituency share with me the earnest hope that Alberta already known as a leader among Provinces may at this crucial hour in human affairs display that unity of purpose and wisdom of action which alone can kindle new hope for the future, for all over this world today the lamp of hope is burning dimly. May God grant to us clarity of vision, soundness of judgement and unity of purpose, as standing together with firmness in the right, we chart our course to that end.

Faithfully yours,

W. MASSON,
Social Credit Candidate for the Wainwright Constituency

HYBRID BARLEY MAY RESIST SMUT, RUST

Brandon, Man.—An attempt is being made to develop a variety of barley resistant to both loose smut and stem rust. The barley improvement program is being carried out at the Dominion experimental farm here.

The experiments consist of a cross-breeding of Titan, a smut resistant variety and Vanguard, a variety of rust resistant barley.

Farm officials say the ideal variety would combine straw strength with resistance to both smut and rust. Though it will be some years before conclusive results will appear, officials say the experiment looks promising so far.

BANG-UP HOUSEKEEPER IS MR. FRANK J. COX

Wainwright, Ont.—Frank J. Cox, who describes himself as "a good housekeeper as any woman," feels justified in boasting when he looks over his daily wash, ironing and neatly-made beds.

The 26-year-old Mimico, Ont., man finds housekeeping chores all in the day's work as he runs a tourist cabin camp here in the Muskoka area without the help of a feminine helper.

He spent five years in the service and when he came back to Canada with three wounds he found he couldn't hold a regular job in the city. He put all his gratuities into the camp and had to learn the housekeeping business by trial and error.

August 5, 1948

Wainwright Star, Wainwright, Alberta.

Dear Mr. Huntingford:

We have read with interest the editorial in your issue of July 28th. We might say that we were approached by the Wainwright Hospital with reference to some help in connection with a program of routine chest X-ray of their admissions.

Your editorial interest is very much appreciated indeed. The function of a voluntary association such as ours is to lead the way, and to demonstrate the value of certain diagnostic or treatment procedures, leaving it to the official agencies to carry on such procedures. With the limited funds at our disposal, namely the receipts of the annual Christmas Seal Sale, we have no choice but to follow the above-mentioned practice. We might tell you, however, that we are prepared to go a considerable way in supplying, for example, the tuberculin patch, tests necessary for the program we have described, to any hospital that is willing to undertake to X-ray the reactors to the tuberculin test, at a nominal cost to those X-rayed.

This procedure has not yet been adequately proved in Alberta, though we have convincing evidence from other points that it is a valuable diagnostic procedure.

We are now negotiating with your hospital and we have little doubt that we will be able to be of assistance to them in establishing this program. Your interest and your editorial comment have been noted with gratitude.

Sincerely yours,
C. ROSE, DICKIE,
General Secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Smith have purchased a Fargo one-ton truck, we'll miss hearing the "tractor" coming to town.

Miss Dolores Bodnar returned home Saturday after holidaying in Edmonton and Camanche. Her cousin June Mamurek returned home with her for a holiday in Fabyan.

Mr. Joe Ploker returned home on Friday from Edmonton to spend the week-end with his family here.

Is Your Ad Ready

There are times when one becomes weary of well-doing. Running round soliciting advertising in weekly news papers is the common experience of their publishers or their employees. Sometimes a storekeeper will grab a piece of wrapping paper from the roll, scribble a few lines and figure it should produce oodles of business.

Others will procrastinate and after maybe two or three calls will tell you they have decided not to carry an ad this week, just let it go.

So, after running all over hell's half acre, to use a common expression which just about expresses the feelings of the advertising solicitor, he, or she, gives up in disgust, figuring that time can be spent to better advantage doing something more profitable than running on wild goose chase.

Talking about hell's half acre, recalls the story of the individual who came into the newspaper office to renew his subscription, which had become delinquent. He was one of those chronic slow-pays with which every business has some experience. After handing him his receipt, the editor cautiously asked the reason of his coming in at that particular time. The reply was that overnight he (the subscriber) had dreamed of being held up for examination at the gates of Heaven, and on being asked if he paid all his debts, replied that he had.

But with a sudden twinge of conscience he remembered he had not paid his newspaper subscription, and as he expected it to save himself from running all over hell's half acre looking for the editor, he decided to pay up without further delay.

EDGERTON

The first grain of the season was delivered to the Edgerton elevators on August 2nd, when Mr. Alf Chalenger took in his fall crop to the Pool. We hear it went 22 bushels to the acre.

The Edgerton oil well begins to get interesting. Last week the casing was being run after which the cement was poured.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Archer were visitors to Edgerton last week, staying with Mr. and Mrs. Cal Archer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Geddes were overnight visitors one day last week. They took Ellen Miles back with them to Pigeon Lake where they are on holiday.

Mei Nichol and Gene Tramer went up to Cold Lake on Sunday on a fishing trip.

Ted Skillet and family have moved to Millet where Ted is now working. The Cinema Box was at the Empire Tavern last week. Winners were Mrs. G. E. Dorland, Shirley Bishop, Ken Stange and A. Boyer. The box will be at Shaw's Hardware next week.

CONTINUATION OF KELLEN FORSTER REPORTS FROM ENGLAND

to leave Portsmouth, we discovered that our rooms were still in Mr. "Swit's" car, so Dick very kindly rushed back for them, as it was futile to even consider leaving without them.

Our lodgings at Ryde were perfect—a most congenial host and hostess—comfortable beds, and most delicious meals. Much credit is certainly due these people, in their skill at preparing such tasty meals, on the ration given them for a week that back there in Canada you would easily eat in one meal. I was very impressed by my first boarding house holiday.

The Isle of Wight was originally named "Vectis" or "Island of Flowers", by the Romans, years ago. Although only 32 x 78 miles, it offers a wonderful variety of scenery, and it has a very friendly and lazy atmosphere, especially noted in the rather quaint little towns that cover the island. Sandown was perfect for bathing, and the beaches are always well patronized. I have noticed that the promenades at the English seaside resorts are very elaborate. Shanklin is lovely—one quaint old winding street is what is known as the Old Village, and all the houses and inns are thatched, and present a beautiful picture. From the Old Village, we went through the Chine, where we met the Chinkeeper, a true character, who kindly took us along to see the "Honeymoon Cottage"—now closed to the public due to war damage, but is still a pretty house, with, no doubt, a good many romantic tales connected with it. From the Chine we walked out on the beach again where we saw the Queen Mary going to Southampton.

Another interesting feature about the Isle of Wight, is that nearly every day was at one time associated with smugglers, and of course many of the islanders claim to be direct descendants of these smugglers.

In my opinion, Ventnor was an outstanding place, and was to us, like an Italian village. It is built up in tiers of terraces, rising high above and overlooking the promenade below. At Ventnor, we spent a very enjoyable and interesting afternoon at the home of Mrs. Salaman, a cousin of Dr. Middlemass. She very kindly showed us her fine collection of pictures and antiques that adorn her beautiful home, overlooking the water. Here at Ventnor, Charles Dickens started "Great Expectations".

Alum Bay is another interesting spot. It is famous for its remarkable colored cliffs, where there is an endless stream of people, patiently digging in the sands and filling test tubes with the many beautiful pastel shades of this sand from the cliffs. (I have some of this sand and as soon as I can get around to it, will send you some.) Another point of interest at Alum Bay is that it was on the cliffs here, that the first permanent wireless station was built, and here Marconi carried out his experiments in wireless. At the end of the cliffs at Alum Bay, are several pointed stone formations rising out of the water. These are known as "The Needles".

We also visited Freshwater Bay, another favorite resort, and also Yarmouth. Like West Cowes and many other of the island towns, it has quaint twisted narrow streets, all of which have a real tang of the sea. Small wonder many of the inns were named "Crab Inn", "Puddle Inn" and countless more—all Nautical.

We visited Osborne House, a favorite spot where Queen Victoria and her family spent many hours. Osborne House, as well as the Swiss Cottage which stands about 1/2 of a mile from Osborne, were designed by Prince Consort, and were presented to the public by King Edward VII after Queen Victoria's death. Today, part of Osborne House is used as a convalescent home for Officers.

One day we took a boat trip and visited Southampton—saw the "Durban Castle" just leaving, and of course it was our bad luck as the "Queen Mary" had left early that morning. We only stayed at Southampton a few hours but the damage done by bombs that we saw in that time, was unbelievable. What a terrible bombing some of these places took.

We left Ryde on Sunday A.M. and spent a good part of the day at Portsmouth, going over the "Victory"—Nelson's flagship. It was a wonderful thrill, and the old ship looked so proud, so full of romance and adventure. We also had a good view of the Battleship, "Duke of York", and it was a magnificent contrast, seeing the old Battleship and the new.

At Gosport, we met Mr. Hewitt, and car, and arrived back in Bath around 10 p.m. on Sunday. So, for one week I think we did very well, and I am most grateful to my friends Dick, Christobel and Mr. Hewitt, for their wonderful interest, in seeing that I had such an enjoyable and unforgettable holiday, on that romantic treasure island.

Christobel and I started work today, with the National Film Institute—it is clerical work and we are busy getting all the doctors and patients all filled and new cards, etc. Good hours and good pay, but only for three months, then I hope to get into the Dental Clinic.

Received your birthday card, also your letter—glad you had a nice holiday. Will write again later. Kindest regards to all. Love,

KELLEN.

OWN ASSOCIATION

INSURES COWBOYS

Ponoka, Alta.—Rodeo cowboys risk injury and death every time they jump astride an animal in a show and until four years ago they were without accident protection.

Four years ago the Cowboys' Protective Association was formed to help out in case of injury or death. Regular insurance companies won't handle policies for the bronco busters.

A cowboy pays $10 a year and a rodeo $25 a day while in operation. Riders are covered up to $200 for hospital and doctors' bills, or by life insurance in case of death.

C.P.A. is all-Canadian. A similar organization exists in the United States, but a great number of U.S. cowboys also belong to the Canadian association.
